

Dear FCC,XM radio is a great relief, especially out here in the West, where we can hardly get a local station beyond the city limits, due to the mountains. With XM, I get a solid signal 99% of the time. I would love to have a better handle on the weather, and I would if I could get it on XM. It could be a real lifesaver.

I pay enough for XM, so I don't see how the NAB can object. It is part of the free enterprise system.
